FOREWORD

"Whether we look or whether we listen, we hear life murmur and see it glisten."

We trust as you, our friends and co-workers, look at these pages, you may see and hear yourselves and us all over again. And may all the sights and sounds be those you love the most. We've loved assembling these pages, and we trust them to your tender care hoping you will love them also.

CLASS POEM

As we travel down the roadway of life,
We come to the place where our paths must part.
And all, recalling each pleasure and strife,
Will follow the paths of their heart.

While we pursue our separate ways,
We ever shall remember days long past.
And whatsoe'er we meet in coming days,
We trust that school day memories will last.

Each one, treasuring thoughts ofthe rest
And knowing not what future hours will hold,
Still knows if we give to the world our best
It will come back enriched a thousandfold.

JOYCE LEE BINKLEY

CLASS HISTORY

One year just before Easter a group of five-year-olds came to visit the first grade at Lewisville School. We were to be the seniors of 1953. With our Easter baskets over our arms, we gleefully boarded school buses for the first time. We were going to have a big Easter egg hunt and spend one day at school before our first year of formal learning began. At this first taste of school, some were thrilled and some were a bit disappointed. The next September, we all came back; and, with Miss Conrad as our teacher, we spent a very happy year enjoying all our first grade experiencee.

In the second, third, and fourth grades, we studied the new subjects, arithmetic, English, and geography. Mrs. Mock, Miss Brady, and Mrs. Hire were our teachers. "Proud" doesn't halfway express how we felt about the four years' progress we had made with those teachers and with Mr. Winslow as our principal.

In the fifth grade, Mrs. Lovelace was our teacher and our new principal was Mr. Lovelace. After the school fire in December, we went to Vienna School where Mrs. Kelly was principal. Gratefully, we stayed there through the sixth grade. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Beroth were our sixth grade teachers.

Back home to the agriculture building and Miss Taylor we came in the seventh grade. Going to school there was much like "the good old days." We brought our lunches, warmed our toes by a coal stove, and were called in from play by a dinner bell which always seemed dreadfully hard to hear! We enjoyed that year as much as any of our twelve.

Two extra fortunate things came our way at the beginning of our eighth grade: Mr. Simpson became our principal and we moved into our new building. That year we tasted departmental work for the first time.

The next fall we were all very excited and pleased, for we were beginning our first year of high school. Miss Hicks and Mr. McGirt, our home room teachers, had quite a job getting us to the right places at the right time, especially those of us who had just been welcomed from Vienna and to whom the building was strange.

Our Sophomore year passed quickly and uneventfully with Miss Voss and Mr. Smith as home room teachers; but, of course, we were the usual sophomores to whom no one could tell anything because we already knew it all.

As Juniors, we had quite an exciting year. First there was the junior play, "Comin' 'Round the Mountain" directed by Miss Hawks. Second, we received our class rings. And third, with the help of Mrs. Sacrinty and Mr. Bridges, the Junior-Senior Banquet was a big success, an event to be long remembered.

At least we were Seniors! Once again we were all back in one home room with Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Hunt as our sponsors. There were many things to look forward to. Our big trip to Washington was one of the long awaited events, our senior play was to be given (we knew it would be the best yet), and then we would produce our annuals.

Last of all would come graduation! The one thing for which we had worked diligently all these years. Now as we are approaching our goal, the thought of leaving our friends and "Good Old Lewisville High" may sadden us a bit; but as we look at our accomplishments and toward our future opportunities, "Each becomes as one who never turned his back, but marched breast forward."

In later years, we feel that we shall view with pride our role in this school. Then, and only then, will the entire meaning of this episode in our lives be recognized.

CLASS PROPHECY

May 23, 1963
1200 Main Street
Lewisville, North Carolina

Dear Mrs. Bowers:

I just had to write you to tell you how much we missed you at the class reunion today. Retiring and moving to California must really be something. You will hardly recognize Lewisville when you come back for a visit.

Our class met in the private dining room of the Lewisville Tea Room (formerly Bill's Kitchen). You remember that opened the year we were seniors. The first person I saw was Hubert French, the chef there. The service you get is something to talk about. Betty Dalton, head waitress, is doing a splendid job. Of course, no one can complain of "Humphrey's" food.

The first persons to arrive were Lou Ann Brewer (I have forgotten her married name) Peggy Levens, and Shirley Harper. All three of them have modern homes here in Lewisville. After hearing them talk, I would say that they are very happy and successful homemakers. Tommy Wright, an excellent architect, drew up the plans; and Carl Stewart, Lewisville's best contractor, constructed their houses. Joanne Casey married one of the executives of Western Electric and is now living in Baltimore. She could not come, but she did send a telegram.

As we sat there talking, in walked Governor Frank Holder, Mayor Bill Hoffman, and Joe Stimpson, who has just taken over the job of managing our city. Joe and Bill seem to be able to keep Ramonia Hicks and Joyce Binkley busy most of the time, but the girls seem to like their jobs and their employers. Nancy McBride has a good job, too. She is register of deeds for Guilford County and loves living in Greensboro.

I know you have heard about the new design studio owned and operated by Mary Pfaff and Bill Messer. While Bill did a new backdrop for the stage at school, Mary painted and donated to the school an excellent portrait of Mr. Simpson. Archie Huff is quite a successful businessman. He works in an airplane factory all day and supplies the voice for Donald Duck on TV at night. He and Betty Tucker also have a show of their own on channel six each Monday evening. They are very talented and their show is very entertaining. Speaking of television, I am reminded that only last week I saw Janet Whitaker working with polio patients at Warm Springs, Georgia. She seemed to be enjoying her work. While we are on the subject—Bob Kimel has invented a television set which makes it possible for the actors to see their audiences. I can't decide whether I like this plan or not. What do you think about it, Mrs. Bowers?

Tony Apperson, new farm agent for Forsyth County, told me that Hassel Sheets broke all records for corn production this year. I understand that he produced one hundred twenty bushels per acre. George Stone had some good reasons for working every afternoon after school. He is manager of Brookberry Farm. He reports Dr. Bill Perryman is one of the best veterinarians he knows. Bill recently opened an animal hospital and clinic in West Bend.

Betty Sowers and Frances Shelton are sharing an apartment in Raleigh where they are working as assistant librarians in the public library. Johnny Yates has also moved to the capital city since he took over as head of the State Highway Department.

Thanks to Johnny, the road in front of the school no longer has those terrible bumps in it. Lola Jones is working in Alabama, where she is test-driving new Chevrolets. That reminds me, William Barr is doing the chasing instead of being chased. He is a highway patrolman. Just last week, Eugene Hauser was given a safety award for nine years of service without an accident. He drives a Greyhound bus on the Miami to Charlotte route. Robert Conrad and Lois Harper rode up with him on his last trip. Robert leads the band in a newly organized circus, and Lois designs all the costumes for the circus performers. They are really busy this season of the year.

When Dee Jarratt, who is now singing in a Broadway musical, got on a plane in New York, she really had a pleasant surprise. Ann Haynes was the hostess. Of course the trip seemed short to both of them. At the Washington stop, Rachel Snow and Sally Bazemore joined them. Rachel is a lovely model and Sally dances in one of the best night clubs in Washington. I'll bet that no one else on that plane had a chance to say a word, unless those girls have changed more than I think they have.

If you remember, S. T. Craft used to be the manager of the ball teams at school. He learned the rules so well that he now has a full time job as a referee. I hear that he is a good one. Wilbur Hill is playing professional football for the Eagles, and from all reports he is not underpaid.

Frances Whitman and Dr. Ellen Palmer rode up with Gene Carter. Frances is the manager of the book store at N. C. State, and Gene is head of the department of mathematics there. Ellen is fast becoming one of the best known phychiatrists in our state. She is working in Raleigh at the present time. Being able to keep still got jobs for at least two members of our class. Frances Billings and Doris Tucker are both working for he F. B. I. Frances is a switchboard operator and Doris works in the filing department.

I almost forgot to tell you about Lewisville's newest building. It houses a self-service food market, drug store, and a hair stylist's salon. The grocery store is owned and operated by George Beroth. J. D. Beroth supplies the always fresh produce. Guilford Chaffin is doing a wonderful job of filling prescriptions at Chaffin Drug. Business is so good, that he has employed Charlie Fulp. Charlie plays ball with the All-Stars in his spare time. Marvin Yow can put waves in others' hair too. I think all the girls had him design their hair styles before the reunion. Good advertisement for Marvin, isn't it?

Glen Motsinger is really getting generous. He gave everyone present a sample of his frankfurters. Of course you know that he runs the world's largest wiener factory.

Don't be surprised if two young men in "bell-bottom" trousers drop in on you sometime soon. Ferrell Luper and Tommy Beroth have decided to make the navy their careers. They are now stationed in California. On the way here, they stopped in Nebraska for Val Hauser. Val couldn't come this time because he had just returned from Canada and could not leave his job again. Which reminds me, I had better get to my own job of coaching the softball team at L. H. S. My girls won the county basketball title this year.

Well Mrs. Bowers, when I started this, I intended to write a short note, but I will finish the book by saying—Wish that you could have been with us!

WARD HUFFMAN,
The Prophet of '53

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the seniors of 1953 of Lewisville High School, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament:

To our beloved principal, Mr. H. E. Simpson, we leave our sincere thankfulness for bearing with us and helping us to a better understanding of our place in future life.

To Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Hunt, our home-room teachers, who have helped see us through our misunderstandings and failures, we wish to leave a heart full of gratitude and appreciation.

To the rest of the faculty, we leave our best wishes and gratefulness for helping us over the "humps."

To our parents, who have helped make the school our second home and who have sacrificed for our education, we can only say "thank you."

To Mrs. Conrad, and the rest of the cafeteria staff, many thanks for the delicious and nourishing meals.

Nancy McBride, who seems to have some height she may spare, wills this to Ruth Fulp.

Another of our tall ones, Bobby Kimel, would like to will his height to Gene Sain. Think you can use it, Gene?

Nellie, Mary wishes to leave her magnificent singing ability to you. Use this talent sparingly and don't injure your vocal cords.

Peggy Campbell Levens has something to will Sarah Stafford. Upon you, Sarah, she bestows her beauty and neatness. Nice gift, huh, Sarah?

Frances Billings leaves her gift of sewing beautifully to Sylvia Pearce. Add this to your crocheting, Sylvia, and you will be indeed a talented girl.

To Annie Lou Stewart, Betty Jean Dalton would like to will her shorthand skilll for writing 120 words a minute. Who talks that fast, Betty Jean?

One of our couples, Lou Ann Brewer and Marvin Yow, will their two back seats in the balcony to Barbara Brewer and Fred Norman. Behave yourselves, now.

To Gwyn Clodfelter, Joe Stimpson would like to will his bus driver's license.

Johnny Yates wills his important job of laughing at teacher's jokes to Bill Foster. It's not as easy as it looks, Bill.

Wilbur Hill wishes to will his ability to play football well to Dicky Slater. We're expecting great things of you, Dicky.

Ferrell Luper has plenty of terrific personality, so he's willing some of it to you, Frances Sheets.

Bill Messer wills his artistic ability to Mary Frances Fulp. Let's don't be circulating any pin-ups, Mary Frances.

Tommy Beroth wishes to will his love for holidays to David Binkley. Don't celebrate too heavy, David.

A deep bass voice was willed to you, John Craft, by one who can afford to will it—Archie Huff. We're expecting to hear some good singing, now, John.

Here is an important job for you, Betty Jean Sheets. Bill Perryman wills his job of president of Student Council to you—so now let's show them what a woman in office can do.

Rachel Snow, our "hot-rod" driver, leaves her ability to never drop to 80 to Stanley Milestone. Watch it, Stanley, don't get caught.

Cute Sally Bazemore leaves her flirting ability to Mart Thomas. Seems you're doing pretty well yourself, Mart.

Joyce Binkley bequeaths her capacity for learning to Jimmy Luper. You'll go places, Jimmy, if you use this gift.

Lola Jones, who can really drive that Chevrolet (in the middle of the road), bestows upon Catherine Williams this gift.

Ellen Palmer, a "steady-dater", wills her love for date nights to Anna Mae Beroth. Enjoy yourself, Anna Mae.

Hassel Sheets willingly turns over his "beloved books" to Sam Harper. Think you can use them, Sam?

Lois Harper, who has done such a very good job as editor-in-chief of the annual, wishes to will Joanne Harper her position.

Anne Haynes wills her capacity to learn Spanish well to Peggy Doub. Buena Suerte, Peggy.

Shirley Huff Harper, who has proven she has the ability to catch a man and keep him, would like to will this ability to Bernice Beauchamp. Another nice gift.

Have a good time, Peggy Redding, when you are playing accompaniment for chorus. You want to know who willed this job to you? Dunreath Jarratt.

One of our good drivers, Ramonia Hicks, wills her driving ability to Rachel Jones.

Frances Shelton willingly turns over her shorthand pad and pen to Lillian Black. See what you can do with them, Lillian.

Betty Kimmons, Gene Carter bequeaths his "studious nature" to you. Now you will be an "A" student!

To Elizabeth Hutchins, Betty Tucker wishes to leave her dependability and "ways and means." Hope you do as good a job as Betty did, Elizabeth.

Robert Conrad wills his very essential place in the band to Max Bailey.

Here is a humorous touch—Hubert French thinks he would like to will Mildred Black his G. I. haircut. Think you can use it, Mildred?

Our Bookkeeping genius, Betty Sowers, bestows upon Lois Mae Carter the ability to make A's on it . . . you'll need it, Lois.

To Geraldine Campbell, Janet Whitaker wills her typing and shorthand ability.

Our good basketball player, Frances Whitman, who always seems to fall so gracefully on the basketball court, bestows upon Sue Lashmit this ability.

George "Shine" Beroth wills his wonderful ability to skip class and get away with it to Eddie Beroth. Live it up, Eddie, it's in the book!

Eugene Hauser, a very good typist, wills his typing ability to Betty Jean Campbell. Do a good job, Betty Jean.

Irish Spaugh, Doris Tucker wills to you her quiet and graceful mannerisms. Now you will be quite a girl, Iris, or should I say a quiet girl?

Speaking of Fords, William Barr seems to be able to maneuver one very well— This ability William wills to Ray Jones. Keep it in the road, Ray.

Tony Apperson, one of our basketball stars and one who can also play baseball well, would like to will this ability to Bob Herman.

Edith Huffman, you're going to be mighty busy when you're a senior, because Guilford Chaffin bequeaths his job of vice-president of the senior class to you.

To David Fulton, Val Hauser wishes to will his "quiet and bashful nature."

Bob French, you have really inherited something valuabe—J. D. Beroth leaves to you his number one place in Mrs. Bower's heart. See if you can get to be teacher's pet like J. D., Bobby.

Glen Motsinger, who has an ability to think of something to say, anywhere, anytime, bestows upon Cecil Mock this gift.

S. T. Craft wills his job as bus driver and curb boy to Tommy Butner. Think you can do these jobs and get your homework too (as S. T. did)?

One who always seems to be tardy and get excused for it, is George Stone. He wills all his old excuses to Raymond Holder.

Rex Jennings—you are hereby bequeathed by Charlie Fulp the job as treasurer of the Key Club. Don't get sticky fingers, Rex.

To Barbara Yow, Frank Holder bequeaths his knowledge of economics. You'll have lots of fun with Mr. McGirt as your teacher, Barbara.

Home room would surely get lonesome for some of us girls if Tommy Wright wasn't there to entertain us. Henry Yarbrough, you have just inherited this entertaining job. Keep 'em smiling!

Here is something Don Craft can really use—Carl Stewart wills his "bashfulness" to you. Things ought to be less hectic next year.

Bill Hoffman says you can use his precious Ford if you'll take care of it, Wilburn Mabe.

To the Juniors we leave our senior privileges, our responsibilities, and the job of keeping the school "under control."

To the Sophomores we leave our tendency to be "hard-headed" and all our joys and sorrows.

To the Freshmen we leave our "angelic ways" and hope they have as much fun as we have had in our four years of high school.

To the school in general, we, the Seniors, leave all our hilarious moments and mistakes to bring a smile to their lips when they are sad.

Requested by the 1953 Senior Class, this will was signed and published the twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-three.
